of summer left for us now and need to tell you to make the them for nearly every one I know this vicinity is or has been or to be away by the sea or lake hillside. Vacations are not a they are a necessity. I am glad folks are vacation minded this y if times are hard. Our minds w iably turn to a pet fishing ground to golf course, a pool and beauti-

the shade of a friendly tree and time away, dreaming of what we to recoup our sorely depressed or simply to contemplate the beauty of nature and give our minds and much needed rest.

All of us look at the other fellow and think what an easy and comfortable life he leads, no worries, no financial cares, no dingy grind and then we envy him, our rich and find all the fault to see the associates in the path of the other fellow is that we are not good enough with his job to know how to get up against. Familiarity breeds contempt, and that is why we regard our friends contemptuously.

The real thing to do when dealing with a man of mind sets in is to forget these duties and remember only the things we like to do. It even means to begin to think seriously of the weekly feature of the paper.

This past week we have two gr-
tures that are in the spot light Bay State. The greatest is our acti-dent Roosevelt's promise to the
of our nation, that is back to pr-with the National Recovery Ad-
ion. Merchants, business men, ever attempted against such an enemy as this nation called defeat. Mr. Roosevelt is out to win and I know he has got lots of greatness back of him to assist him in the prosperity. Every day here in Minnesota those blue eagles are identifying Roosevelt's new enlistments. I am it for granted that the State of are doing their part with a greater spirit. They always were ready to man, Jessie Costello, on trial for the murder of her husband. No matter what you go, that is what they are all about. It is becoming a nation wide thing. It appears that the public are in sympathy with the defendant which I am sure is the right sentiment to pass. She must be innocent until the State of Massachusetts proves her otherwise. She keeps up her publicity, she will get a contract with Keith's our late friend Dunham that no way to fame all over the country. I hear his name brought up in conversation. I feel kind of flattered some what acquainted with our every one is that lived in the vic his home.

D. J. Andrews advertises a load of Iowa horses and a load of Andalusians. Sales Stable, Norway. These are matched pairs from 2800 to 4000 pounds. Read his ad in this paper.

Carlton L. Mills of Fryeburg made us a pleasant call, Monday morning. Mr. Mills has been located at Hartland since the fourth of July working at the Baxter Gunsmith factory, running pump. This is Mr. Mills' eighth season at Hartland and in the year the pea pack was 70,000 cases of 24 cans each which is a little less than in former years.

Four planets in sight at a time is so near the unusual that amateur observers might be directed to the Andromeda nebula for August. Venus is the bright planet low on the western horizon at sunset. A little eastward is Jupiter, a trifle less bright. Still further east and near the zenith is the star Mars, Glancing across to the eastern horizon about 9 o'clock Saturday with a cold greenish star can be picked out from stars that might cause confusion. Under favorable conditions the elusive Mercury may be seen between Venus and the White Mountain sky line. It never swings far from the sun and an observer who picks up the huster is fortunate. Astronomers figure that the planet will be visible on August 16 or 17, making what appears to be a double star, with a small one of a circle, separating them. Of course that is an illusion for they are a few million miles apart and not in danger of colliding.

NORWAY—HOWE HILL

Mrs. Ethel Howe and family, June Howe and Clara Pierce went to Lewiston Tuesday.

This neighborhood was saddened to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Bert Heath of East Waterford.

A party of eight including Everett Morse from South Paris, Grace Morse from Norway, Ernest and George Westworth, Oscar Andrews of Norway Center, Lea McIntire of Northwest Norway and Clara Pierce went blueberrying on top of Pleasant Mountain last Sunday. The group of them went up in the look-out tower.

IN MEMORY OF MARANDA HEATH
By Josephine L. Sanderson
You have gone, little girl, to a better land. Where you'll find no sorrow or pain. Little you know of the sorrow you caused. But I know, and I know how to grieve. 'Tis dreary down here since you left us. But we'll try and be brave for your sake. Oh, little girl, you know your life was at stake! The ways of God are very queer. There are others here who have taken away. And you know how happy we would have been. If he only had let you stay. Maybe it's best for the best, you know. Why such things happen, we know not. When he is ready for our souls. No one can see us, our lives are not ours. If you'll try and forgive my heartache we're caused.

In our memory of you we will repent. Perhaps some day you will meet again. And make up for the absence we've spent. So farewell little girl, may God bless your soul. And I'll try and watch out for your little ones.

Just as you would do if I had gone. And those three little boys were my sons.

The Cracker Box

By P. C. Brooks

A story related by Carl Sandburg in Abraham Lincoln, The Prairie Years, illustrates strikingly the droll and gentle humor of our beloved, martyred President. Lincoln was recognized as a genius of droll and gentle humor by his fellow townsmen of New Salem where he was employed as clerk in Denton Olcott's store and the following tale was one of his favorite stories. The story runs like this: A backwoods preacher of the "Hell and brimstone" persuasion was holding services in the tall timbers. His attire consisted solely of a lumpy pigtail and a faded blue jeans fastened with one button and no suspenders, and a shirt held at the neck by a single button. As he announced his text for the following day he thumped in a bellows voice, "I am the Lord, whom I shall represent today." At this dramatic statement a lizard ran up the reverend gentleman's trousers leg. The preacher kept on preaching, but the lizard kept on climbing. At last the preacher got desperate and reaching down unbuttoned the single button fastening his trousers and kicked them off not faltering for a second in his impassioned exhortation. Reaching out one turn the lizard changed his route and nestled up under the old fellow's shoulder blades but the preacher was in no way abashed for with a single sweeping movement he snatched the shirt from his back, repeating his text, "I am the Lord, whom I shall represent today." The congregation was dazzled; the silence was profound; then a dignified old lady stood up and said, "I just want to say, sir, that if you represent the Lord then I am the Lord, whom I shall represent today." This Lincoln's gift for story telling and his dry and whimsical manner one can imagine the effect on his listeners. This same sense of humor and flair for story-telling of times brought discomfort to the crowd on the heads of his opponents at-law while contesting cases in the law courts of Springfield. Truly a God-given gift that never deserted him even in the darkest hours of his Gethsemane.

The A. P. furnished a news item in the Lewiston Sun the other day which ought to give all fishermen a decided kick. It seems a Western inventor claims to have discovered how to capture worms no matter how dry and arid the soil may be. According to him the easy way is to just jab a fork in the ground as far as the times will reach and hit the worms. A good sound whack. When the times start vibrating the fish bait will pop out like woodchucks from a stone wall. Gee, if it's only true what a world of labor is going to be saved.

BRIDGTON

The band concert last Friday evening was attended by between 1,000 and 1,200 people at the Square, and was considered the outstanding concert thus far for the season. The band was composed of thirty-five persons and the program was made up of marches and real snappy music. Next Friday night a special feature will be the noted tenor, Charles Harrison, of Harrison, and the blind baritone, both singing with the American Quartet. These Friday night concerts are proving very popular.

BRIDGTON HIGHLANDS

Charlotte Stuart entertained her uncle, Howard Seavey, of South Portland, also her cousin, Nettie Seavey of the same place, several days last week.

The Redfields of Ingalls' Grove entertained a party of friends over the week end.

Mrs. Gertrude Walsh of the Grove is making extensive additions and improvements to her property and will soon have the show place and beauty spot of the camp colony.

The haymakers are progressing slowly, but Charles Wiggins and Arthur Sanborn are among the fortunate ones who have already finished.

Herbert Allen was a week end visitor, staying with his father, Edward Allen. Herbert has charge of a crew encamped at the City Farm, Lewiston, and was but a few days from the camp struck by a bolt of lightning in a recent storm, killing four. MRS. HARRISON SPONSORS INTERESTING RADIO PROGRAM

Last Friday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, Mrs. Charles Harrison of Summit Avenue sponsored a most interesting program over station WCHS in Portland, Me. This program was filled by James Nichols, soprano, one of her pupils in the Charles Harrison summer course of vocal study at Harrison's house, with Marion Gilles, who is their accompanist this season. The program featured several groups of MacDowell, both vocal and instrumental numbers. Especially interesting was the "Scotch Psalm" played by Miss Gilles, to Mrs. Harrison's delightful recitation. Mrs. Harrison's diction and tone production, not only in her own work, but also in that of her pupils, is outstanding. James Nichols gave an exquisite rendering of "The Swan Bent Low". The bird-like tones of her voice being especially adapted to this lovely number. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison are very fortunate in having Marion Gilles of New York, with them this summer. She not only is a delightful pianist and accompanist, but is well known as a teacher, specializing in class work for children, creative and transpositional.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mullins, of Atlanta, Georgia, have arrived at the school for the month of August. Mr. Mullins is known in the South, as the "blind bard" and studied voice with Charles Harrison, in the special summer course, two seasons ago. He is also a teacher in his home city, and regularly appears on the Atlanta NBC station WSB. The American Foundation for the blind and the Georgia State rehabilitation Board have awarded scholarships to Mr. Mullins, to take a course with Mr. Harrison during the month of August.

NUMBER 2 CAR—26.74%*

NUMBER 3 CAR—19.21%*

ALL OTHERS 6.06%*

*Based on the latest retail registration figures from R. L. Polk & Company (all states for five full months). Since January first Chevrolet has sold in excess of 370,000 passenger cars and trucks.

People have come to expect Chevrolet to lead the world in automobile sales. But this year Chevrolet has done even more than that. According to the latest available figures, Chevrolet alone has sold almost as many cars this year as all the rest of the low-price field combined!

When a car looms above its field like that, there can't be any argument about it. It must be an all-round better buy. And that's exactly what Chevrolet offers you. Fisher bodies, with the new ventilation system and the strongest and quietest body construction of the day—solid steel over a sturdy hardwood frame.* A valve-in-head six engine, unapproached for economy... Cushion-Balanced to blot out vibration... full of snap and vigor—altogether the most efficient engine in the low-price field.

Then there's Syncro-Mesh with Silent Second, the Starterator, Simplified Free Wheeling, the Octane Selector, long, parallel-mounted springs—more advancements than we have space to describe. And Chevrolet prices are as low as $445. Don't guess—buy from the leader. Get a car that has been proved sound and dependable by more owners than any other automobile you can buy.
